The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Clara Barton, through the power of her dedicated faith, left the world a better place than she found it.

In the war between the states she nursed the wounded at the front without regard for her own safety. On one occasion a bullet ripped through her sleeve as she was dressing a wound. The men called her the "Angel of the Battlefield." Eventually she was appointed superintendent of nurses for the Army of the James River in 1864.

After the war she went to Switzerland. While serving as a nurse at the front during the Franco-Prussian War she learned of the great work the International Committee of the Red Cross was doing in Europe. Upon her return to the United States she set out to pursue her crowning achievement, the founding of the American Red Cross. She instigated changes in the constitution of the Red Cross that allowed for relief for disasters other than war. She had charge of the relief work in many of the floods, famines and epidemics over the world during her lifetime, including the famous Johnstown flood of 1889 and the Galveston flood of 1900.

Clara Barton with her bandages and medicine, her Bible for spiritual strength, and her love of mankind gave the world an awareness of service to others, particularly those in need and in pain.

SENSIBLE HALLOWEEN

Halloween is becoming a more constructive celebration with less destructive acts, more treats for a worthy cause and more genuine fun for the young people.

This year the young folks again will have a "Trick or Treat" bag in which they will accept money contributions for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. In this manner, the children do not only have fun they fight hunger, misery, disease and ignorance in the underdeveloped world.

The UNICEF, a twenty-year old Nobel Peace Prize winning organization, still operates with an annual budget equivalent to what is spent on world armament in two hours in one day.

American boys and girls have done more than keep alive an age-old tradition. When they decided to "share, not scare," Halloween became universal, a hallowed evening for sick and hungry children in all parts of the world.

This is a far cry from the days of vandalism when it was considered fun by many to destroy a person's property such as tearing down a fence, tipping over a backhouse or pushing a wagon down a hill.

Of course, we still have some with us today who also seem to take great pleasure in hurting others and in destroying property. But on the whole, the observance of Halloween today is not only saner but safer.

Everyone should help our young people enjoy Halloween to the fullest and to encourage them to keep up the good work so that this year we can report vandalism as non-existent.

The children are entitled to praise and we are very pleased to extend it.

Nixon says the white backlash will be of no help to Republicans—many of whom are hoping that he's wrong.

Experts at a conference pooh-pooh the idea man will ever make contact with civilizations in space. So maybe we'd better concentrate on developing one here.

Daylight Savings Time ends at 2 a. m. Sunday. When you retire this evening, turn your clock back one hour. The hour of sleep you gain is in compensation for the one you lost in April when you turned your clocks ahead.

In order to get back on standard time and get in tune with the rest of the folks, be sure to set your clock back one hour tonight.

Headline: Manila Parley Stressing Peace, Not War. The urgent questions are: At what price? and Who shall pay it?

The Manila Conference proposes a timetable for a troop pullout in Vietnam. The trouble is, timetables are notoriously hard to read, and Hanoi needs glasses.

NOT A FAILURE

Strictly speaking, there was no such thing as the Hungarian Revolution.

Webster identifies a revolution as "a fundamental change in political organization, or in a government or constitution; the overthrow or renunciation of one government or ruler, and the substitution of another, by the governed."

What resulted from that great human convulsion which began 10 years ago on Oct. 23 was no fundamental change in political organization, and however difficult the government of the Hungarians was afterwards, it was certainly not instituted by the governed.

Yet this event was far more than an abortive revolt or uprising, a minor footnote in history. It was a terrific blow to Russia prestige and the cause of international communism. The gunning down of Hungarians in the streets of Budapest by Soviet tanks gave the world unmistakable proof that Russian hegemony over its Eastern European satellites was based on one thing alone—naked force.

Was it worth it?

NEA correspondent Tom A. Cullen asked himself that question when he visited Budapest this month. The answer he gives is a qualified yes.

The Soviet leaders, it is increasingly clear, are grooming their top Arab agent, Khalid Bakdash, as the Middle Eastern Ho Chi Minh. They are also reported to be organizing and arming an anti-Israel "National Liberation Movement" to be headed by Bakdash which will soon demand official recognition by the United Nations and "friendly governments."

Bakdash returned to Syria last April from a long exile in Communist Czechoslovakia and things began to happen immediately in the Arab world. Specialists on the Middle East see his fine hand behind the escalating border clashes between Syria and Israel.

Khalid Bakdash is a Syrian of Kurdish origin. He is, at 54, the most enduring and cannibal leader the Arab Communists ever possessed. He has been Moscow's subservient and invaluable ally in the Middle East for more than three decades.

Considering the difficulties that Arab Communists faced, Bakdash must indeed possess an extraordinary ability to survive.

Already in 1930, at 18, he was a leading member of the joint Syrian-Lebanese Communist party. When the party decided to split after Syria and Lebanon became independent nations during World War II, it was Bakdash who, at a Communist congress in 1943, provided the ideological justification for the split.

A past master of oriental intrigue, it was also the ever-adaptable Bakdash who outlined in his early writings much of the current Communist line on national liberation movements.

In particular, he insisted that the Syrian Communist party was not revolutionary but a national democratic party. One indicator of the success of this approach is that in 1954 Bakdash became the first avowed Communist to be elected to an Arab parliament.

However, his spectacular climb to power was temporarily checked in 1958 when he clashed with another aspiring Arab dictator, Egypt's President Nasser.

The Russians had hoped to use Nasser as their main tool in the Middle East and Bakdash, who hates Egypt's dictator, became an embarrassment for Moscow. The Kremlin ordered him "to take a rest" in Czechoslovakia. He remained an exile in Prague for eight years, making only short secret trips to the Middle East.

But even in exile Bakdash played an important role in the Red world. As the only Arab Communist whose name was known throughout the Middle East, his support for the Russian side in the rift with Red China was doubtlessly appreciated by Moscow.

It is fear of Red China's influence in Syria, Iran, Iraq and Lebanon that was obviously the main reason why Moscow, at the risk of trouble with Nasser, decided to send Bakdash back to the Middle East.

Mao Tse-tung's aim in this area presumably is to develop anti-Russian feeling on governmental and Communist party levels. Thus far he has not succeeded.

To be sure, the Russians also are disappointed in Nasser. Egypt's crafty dictator is ever ready to accept their military and economic aid. He eagerly promotes Moscow's anti-American policies. But he does not like Russian-dominated Reds who are likely to challenge his power and he keeps Egypt's Communists in jail.

Nevertheless, Moscow's current policy in the Middle East is to bring about a reconciliation between Nasser and Bakdash.

However, there is no longer any doubt that as far as Kremlin rulers are concerned it is Bakdash who is destined to play the role of the Middle East's Ho Chi Minh.

With Bakdash's well-organized guerrilla bands, known as El Fatha and El Asifah, financed and armed by Russia, the Middle East could become another Viet Nam.

Dentists' Degrees Differ But Their Services Don't

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Many people ask why many dentists have D.D.S. degrees and some D.M.D.'s. Do they represent special qualifications? Is a doctor of dental surgery specially trained to do dental surgery? Is a doctor of dental medicine specially trained to treat diseases of the mouth?

The answer to these questions is "no." These two degrees are conferred by our dental schools on graduates who have completed similar courses of study, of scientific achievement and clinical experience.

Then why two degrees? That's more difficult to answer. Some dental schools have adopted D.M.D. because they feel it more nearly represents their conception of the modern dentist and his expanded role in medicine.

They say that dentists now play a more significant part in preventing, discovering and treating disease. They believe this expanded responsibility as a member of the health team that's concerned with health of our whole body and not only teeth, is best represented by the D.M.D. degree.

Many general diseases are manifest in the mouth, and often the first indicators of disease in other parts of the body are found in the mouth.

Even though dental school deans accept and promote this new role of dentistry, agreement in the immediate future as to which degree would best represent this new era in dentistry does not seem imminent.

Everyone agrees that dentistry has passed the "drill-'em-and-fill-'em" stage. Yet many educators maintain that since 90 per cent of dentists' chairside time is still spent in performing operative procedure, doctor of dental surgery is the more relevant degree.

At present D.D.S.'s predominate. Of 47 dental schools in the United States, 41 confer D.D.S. degrees on their graduates and six D.M.D.'s. Of those dentists practicing, about 95 per cent have D.D.S. degrees. Of over 3,000 dental graduates last year, less than 300 received D.M.D.'s.

However, if you have a toothache, mouth lesion, need false teeth or root canal therapy or extractions, dentists with either degree are equally qualified to treat you. This depends, of course, on their particular training and ability in the dental discipline involved.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

the average Hungarian than it was at the time of the revolt. There is better pay, more food, more luxuries, a little more freedom.

Red army divisions may remain the ultimate source of Russian influence and control, but the peoples of the satellites have gained a measure of independence that is startling when looked back on over 10 years.

Historians may argue about how much the impact of the Hungarian revolution inspired these evolutionary changes taking place within the Communist bloc, or about what the West could or should have done during those days when Hungary was in its agony and calling for aid.

But no one can say that this cataclysmic event in history, this flaming up of the tiny fire of freedom that seems to burn eternal and unquenchable in the human breast, was a revolution that utterly failed.

President Johnson's publicized trip to Manila didn't sit too well with the Republicans, who complained that the summit conference was merely a political gimmick to shove the major issues of the fall campaigns off the front pages.

One GOP senator did see something good in the trip. "The President did have to cancel some campaign trips to go to Manila, didn't he?" he remarked. "That just proves again that he's a master showman."

"They certainly turned out for Teddy, considering it was their dinner hour and it was raining," remarked a reporter to a Michigan politician.

Mull North Viets Reasoning For Delaying Talks on Peace

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Why doesn't the North Viet Nam government agree to talk peace and end the war? This is the biggest unanswered question in the world today.

President Johnson has made it clear that he will talk peace and that American troops will be withdrawn from South Viet Nam if the Hanoi government does likewise. Every government, including North Viet Nam, knows that the United States has the military power to win the war. But the Hanoi regime doesn't give the slightest sign of weakening.

The most plausible explanation is that North Viet Nam has not become convinced that the United States will continue the war to the bitter end. America has made several pauses in the bombings. It isn't using maximum power in the air or on the ground. Naturally, the Communist government in Peiping would not mind seeing the war prolonged for years. As for the Soviet Union, it doesn't want to see a larger war, but it isn't ready to intervene behind the scenes to persuade the Hanoi government to come to the conference table.

Feel Dissatisfied

It is well known that military men here and in the field feel dissatisfied and wish the United States Government would apply all its strength to bring the war to an end quickly. Even without nuclear weapons, military men say there are many things that could be done with conventional arms to force a truce.

So the simple answer to the question of why the Hanoi government doesn't quit may be that it thinks more is to be gained by continuing the war than by talking peace now. The Communists apparently believe that the United States will get tired of fighting. President Johnson, on the other hand, has expressed this week in the most militant terms America's determination not to weaken but to carry on the war intensively. After his visit to South Viet Nam, he said:

"Each of the nations meeting at Manila has now expressed its willingness to seek an honorable peace. None of our nations has insisted on the unconditional surrender of the forces opposing us, or on terms which those forces could reasonably find dishonorable. "We agreed at Manila that our own forces will be withdrawn from South Viet Nam as the forces sent from the north are also withdrawn and as violence disappears. And we made it clear that this could be accomplished from our side in not more than six months after the conditions are met — and perhaps even sooner."

An adversary which faces defeat anyhow would be expected to welcome Mr. Johnson's overtures but, backed up by Peiping, the Hanoi government has brushed aside everything that has been said along this line.

So far as the United States is concerned, Mr. Johnson now has made it clear that the struggle is not just related to one area but is directed against the wider threats of aggression by "Asian communism." He listed these significant reasons why U. S. soldiers are in Viet Nam:

To Halt Aggression

"They are there to keep aggression from succeeding. They are there to stop one nation from taking over another nation by force. They are there to help people who do not want to have an ideology pushed down their throats and imposed upon them. They are there because somewhere, and at some place, the free nations of this world must say again to the militant disciples of Asian communism: This far and no further. The time has now come and the place is Viet Nam."

This, of course, states the American case in more explicit terms than ever before. But if the North Viet Nam government still remains dubious, a decision in Washington on broader strategy, involving the use of maximum military strength, seems to be inevitable. Once the congressional elections are out of the way, the United States government will have to determine whether to fight the war as the military men would like to see it fought or allow the bombing to be interrupted from time to time. This would give the impression that America is ready to pull its troops out in gradual stages irrespective of whether the enemy promptly does likewise.

The Red Chinese and the Hanoi government will be making a big mistake if they think any kind of surrender is in prospect. The logical conclusion, therefore, is that the Viet Nam war will be intensified, beginning next month.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

I see the politicians taking a great interest in the preserving of the Perrine Bridge, as they know this idea of saving the covered bridge as a landmark pleases many of the voters just before election. If only the voters could get these many powerful politicians to now put on paper their promises so that the Perrine Bridge could be saved.

The interest is so great that folks are asking for pictures of it, in postal card and other form. A lady was in Kingston on a visit to this section and returning to her home in Maryland. She told me she was in the uptown stores and even there could not find a picture post card of Perrine Bridge. If the politicians would now get colored pictures of the Perrine Bridge and put their little advertisement on it, I am sure those who receive these pictures would enjoy them, and keep them. I see in the Thursday, Oct. 20 paper, Miss Anna K. Cunningham, director of Historic Sites of the State Department of Education, has assured Assemblyman Wilson that "his application to the trust is being given full consideration." Miss Cunningham, connected with historic sites of New York State for some time, often makes visits to the Senate House in Kingston. I knew the State Historian, the late Prof. Cory of Albany, and it was always a pleasure to correspond with him. We exchanged information on markers of this section. He could always be depended upon to do his utmost to meet the needs of historic information. He would leave no stone unturned to bring about success in such a project as the saving of the Perrine Bridge. Some people in public office just seem to have the talent and know how to produce results, in problems such as saving landmarks such as the Perrine Bridge, others just have empty promises and courteous correspondence.

I think, just before election, is a fine time to bring the Perrine Bridge before the running politicians. Let us go back to Oct. 20, 1953 when it was brought up that the cost of repairing Perrine's Bridge, one of our state's oldest covered spans would cost around $20,000. Now in 1966 they speak of $120,000. What are they going to do, cover it with cello wrap. I do wish they would do something before the winter weather sets in. It is said to be a 138 foot span, across the Walkill River

Sen. Newcombe Gives His Views On Convention

State Senator Lloyd A. Newcombe was guest speaker at a joint meeting of The League of Women Voters and the American Association of University Women in New Paltz.

Senator Newcombe spoke on "A Legislator's View of the Constitutional Convention." In his address he stated, "There is probably nothing of such great importance which is so little understood or appreciated as The Constitutional Convention and the responsibilities and scope of the job of the elected delegates." While outlining some of the more important issues which will confront the delegates during the 1967 Convention, Senator Newcombe said, "I do think however, one issue transcends them all in scope and lasting effect and that is the re-apportionment and composition of our State Legislature. I would also like to caution you to beware of the Unicameral House which I feel would lessen many of the checks and balances which exist under a two house system and would I fear place excessive power in the hands of the legislative leaders."

Further, the Senator said, "I would recommend a larger legislature and I firmly believe that the historic principle of having each county represented by an Assemblyman is still a good practice, as it would benefit a state areas by giving them a better chance to off-set the growing urban philosophy and influence."

In conclusion the Senator stated, "District lines must be drawn to recognize the integrity of Historic, economic, social and sub-political alignments which contribute so much to the stability and homogeneity of any area rather than to achieve mere partisan political representative advantage."

On November 1st Senator Newcombe will speak before the Town of Rochester Republican Club and discuss some of the questions which will appear on the ballot Election Day. He will also touch briefly on the referendum dealing with the civilian dominated review board in the city of New York which was the subject of the recent public hearings held by the Senate Committee on the City of New York of which the Senator is a member.

In addition, the hard-core infiltrators who form the political leadership for the Viet Cong also would be considered "external forces" that should be withdrawn, these officials said.

These so-called cadres and support troops, estimated to number from 60,000 to 80,000, are used to direct and supply the local Viet Cong units, according to U. S. officials.

4 Youths Injured Near Shandaken

An early morning accident involving one car at 6:30 o'clock today on Route 212 in the Town of Shandaken, slightly over a mile east of Route 28, resulted in injuries to four passengers in the vehicle and the issuance of a summons to the driver.

Operator of the car, Neil Kellegher, 17, of East Durham who was uninjured, was cited for driving at a speed unreasonable and not prudent and for being an unlicensed operator. He is scheduled to appear before Justice of the Peace George Kirk, Town of Shandaken.

State Police at the Lake Katrine barracks said the four injured passengers were taken to Benedictine Hospital for treatment. They were: Richard McMahon, 17, of Elmhurst, abrasions of the head; Dennis Mullarkey, 20, of Elmhurst, contusions and lacerations of the finger; Ronald Pantoliano, 17, of Elmhurst, lacerations and strained neck; and Francis Clyde 17, also of Elmhurst, laceration of the scalp and possible concussion.

According to Troopers Norman Kilfoyle and J. Brainard, who investigated, the car was proceeding east on Route 212 when it failed to negotiate a curve, went off the right side of the road, struck several guard rails and plunged down an embankment.

Hurt at Rosendale

Attendants for Don's Ambulance Service, Rosendale, reported today that they had transported Robert Rossler, 20, of Main Street, Rosendale, to Benedictine Hospital, following a one-car accident at 2:30 o'clock this morning about one mile north of Rosendale on Route 32. According to them, Rossler, who was driving at the time, fell asleep at the wheel and his car ran off the road, hitting several guard posts. He reportedly suffered a fractured left arm in several places, as well as various minor injuries and abrasions.

Scheduled for completion by June 30, 1968, all work will be under the supervision of M. Nicholas Sinacori, district engineer in charge of the Department of Public Works District Office at Poughkeepsie.

"half of the (narcotic) addicts of the United States" and Rockefeller charging that his opponent's election "would mean that narcotic addicts would continue to be free to roam the streets."

O'Connor made his statement in a speech at the ninth convention of the New York State AFL-CIO at Kiamasha Lake, a group Rockefeller addressed Thursday.

The Democrat said Rockefeller was responsible for the increase in narcotics addiction by failing to implement a law that would provide medical treatment and rehabilitation for those addicts who voluntarily seek help.

Asks Labor Support

Roosevelt spoke after O'Connor, and pleaded for support from the labor group. He received a polite reception from about two-thirds of the convention delegates, but many had left the room after O'Connor's talk and did not return to hear the Liberal candidate.

In New York City, Republican Rockefeller said:

"Frank O'Connor has just made crystal clear for the voters of this state a major issue in the campaign for governor."

"There can no longer be any doubt, Frank O'Connor's election would mean that narcotic addicts would continue to be free to roam the streets — to mug, to purse snatch, to steal, and even to murder."

Adams continued his Conservative campaign Update Friday, and told an audience in Syracuse that his election was "a distinct possibility."

The candidate also said that he was misquoted when it was reported Thursday that he said, "of course we're not going to win."

He asserted that what he had said was he "could not hope to win on the basis of the Conservative enrollment alone."

"It's an open race for governor at the present time, and any of the four candidates is capable of winning," Adams told The Associated Press Friday.

Questions Often Asked About Chest Drives

What is necessary for other communities to become a part of the Ulster County Community Chest?

This question highlights a conflict in our name of Ulster County Community Chest when it only includes the City of Kingston and eight towns.

First of all, the Chest will expand to include all areas of the county where feasible. We have welcomed and then one must have the capability of adequately serving the area.

When an interest is expressed from an area, a committee is formed of as many serving the area. With agreement, the area becomes part of the Chest for the following campaign. It is really very simple—but needless to say, the principle motivating factor is a successful Chest drive. So we anticipate some expansion for we are certain the people will respond this year and we will reach the full goal of $299,600.

A committee has been formed to consider Woodstock, West Hurley, Olive and Ontario areas.

The next question is—Who approves agency capital fund drives.

Expelled in 1955

The U. S. government expelled Tsien in 1955, charging he was a Communist. His deportation had been held up for five years on grounds that Tsien possessed valuable knowledge potentially valuable to an enemy, it would be "injurious to the best interests of the United States" to let him leave.

Two days ago, Red China launched a missile with a nuclear warhead that exploded when it "accurately hit the target," Peking radio announced.

With that announcement, scientists who knew Tsien at the California and Massachusetts Institutes of Technology began wondering if there was any connection between him and the Chinese nuclear missile.

Pentagon Ponders Problem

At the Pentagon in Washington, nuclear experts said they had no doubt that Tsien, now 57, was involved in China's atomic program, but to what extent they did not know.

About the only way of keeping track of China's nuclear program is through published works, and they had seen nothing written by Tsien since he left this country, they said.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

I have learned an easy way to make miniature loaves of bread for my family or a party.

Instead of trying to grease the loaf pan, put a little oil in the bottom of the pan and roll it around. Then pour about half an ounce of vegetable oil in the palm of one hand and grease the entire tube of bread before laying it in that loaf pan.

Not only is this a terrific way to keep it from sticking to the pan, but the small amount of oil you have poured in the pan makes a beautiful brown crust.

Sylvia Ann

Dear Heloise:

In my personal telephone book, I find it easy to put my charge plate number under the department store name. It saves time when ordering over the phone.

Also, I put the appliance brandname, model number, purchase date and year, under the service telephone number.

This takes only a few minutes and saves a lot of remembering and searching for slips later when you need repairs or a replacement.

Rose Kline

Dear Heloise:

The trouble sometimes experienced in feeding small cards into a typewriter may be overcome by providing a paper sheet as a leader.

Run the sheet of paper into the machine and feed the card in after it, lapping their adjoining edges.

This prevents the edge of the card from catching on the rolls or guides.

Kiwanians Hear Of Talented Art At Paltz Center

Dr. Raymond G. Kenyon, director of the Mid Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center, located at New Paltz, was the speaker at the Kingston Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday.

The talented art program of the local center was created under the Federal Legislation Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965, Title 3, and the speaker outlined the program necessary to place the center in operation.

Started Last July

Kenyon said that three proposals had been forwarded to Albany and then to Washington for approval. April 12, 1966, marked the date of the approval from the nation's capital. The budget for the project was finalized on June 7, 1966, materials were acquired, and the talented art program was underway on July 5, 1966.

The first workshop served 40 students from Dutchess and Ulster Counties and featured ceramics, weaving, sculpture and leather, he added.

On Aug. 1, 1966, the second workshop was arranged, with ceramics, weaving, sculpture, leather, metalwork and jewelry, and photography. About 60 students from Ulster, Dutchess and Orange counties were included in this second venture.

Lists Objectives

Objectives of the Mid Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center include "the identification of students at any grade level that are talented in the crafts; to develop with teachers and gifted craftsmen an awareness for identifying and motivating the craft-talented student; to individualize a program for talented students in the crafts by providing them the opportunity of working with gifted craftsmen with which the region is so richly endowed; to develop in school, school-community galleries for crafts which would involve the general public and provide talented art students with the opportunity to become gallery aids."

The Right Thing To Do

By Elizabeth L. Post

MINISTER QUESTIONS ETIQUETTE RULE THAT BRIDE SHOULD WALK ON RIGHT

Dear Mrs. Post: In a recent answer you said that it was wrong for the bride to walk up the aisle on her father's left arm. In my opinion, she was following the proper procedure, etiquette to the contrary. At least this is what I was taught in the seminary, more than thirty years ago, and this is what the first prayer book I was given at the time of my ordination, indicated. The symbolism of having the bride on her father's left arm is very clear. . . . namely, that until the father responds to the question "Who giveth this woman to be married to this man," physically and figuratively, he interposes himself between the bride and groom. As far as convenience is concerned, one way just as convenient as the other.

This matter of having the bride come down the aisle on her father's right arm is something which was suggested by the etiquette books a number of years ago. However, I cannot accept such books as being more authoritative or correct than my reverend professors. . . . Rev. Whitmore Beardsley. I would certainly not presume to set my opinion against that of your reverend professors, but since in the eyes of etiquette, it has always been correct for a woman to walk, sit or stand on a man's right (in fact, she used to be considered not a "lady" if she appeared on her escort's left). I shall have to continue to advocate that the bride come down the aisle on the father's right arm.

PARENTS OF GROOM ESSENTIAL TO WEDDING
Dear Mrs. Post: The other night I overheard my son's fiancée telling our daughter-in-law that the mother and father of the groom are merely guests at the wedding—nothing more. Is this so? We have bent over backwards to please this girl, and that remark hurt. If we are only invited guests, do we have to go to the rehearsal, or stand in the receiving line? Please help me, and answer soon, as she has me so confused. Mrs. I. D.

Dear Mrs. I. D.: Your future daughter-in-law should realize, and quickly, that if it weren't for you and your husband, she wouldn't be marrying your son. You are certainly more than ordinary guests at the wedding, and while it's true, there is no reason for her family to consult you about the wedding arrangements, you should certainly be included in the receiving line, at the parents' table, and all other honorary functions.

The booklet "Table Rules of Importance" describes how to eat spaghetti as well as other difficult foods. To get a copy, send ten cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Freeman (A Bell-McClure Syndicate Feature)

Think twice before giving up on your old home. A complete remodeling may cost only one-fourth as much as a new house, yet will have the conveniences and fresh look you most want—in the neighborhood you really don't want to leave.

Dear Abby . . .

A Husband's 10 Commandments

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last year you wrote THE TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR THE 20TH CENTURY WIFE. Our minister liked it so much he asked for your permission to reprint it in our church bulletin. You graciously consented. Much has been said and written about a wife's duties and responsibilities in marriage. Will you please even the score and write TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR THE 20TH CENTURY HUSBAND? Sincerely yours,

SANTA MONICA FAN

DEAR FAN: With pleasure. TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR THE 20TH CENTURY HUSBAND:

1. Thou shalt put thy wife before thy mother, thy father, thy daughter, and thy son, for she is thy lifelong companion.
2. Abuse not thy body either with excessive food, tobacco or drink, that thy days may be many and healthful in the presence of thy loved ones.
3. Permit neither thy business nor thy hobby to make of thee a stranger to thy children, for the precious gift a man giveth his family is his time.
4. Forget not the virtue of cleanliness.
5. Make not thy wife a beggar, but share willingly with her thy worldly goods.
6. Forget not to say, "I love you." For even tho' thy love be constant, thy wife doth yearn to hear the words.
7. Remember that the approval of thy wife is worth more than the admiring glances of a hundred strangers. Cleave unto her and forsake all others.

8. Keep thy home in good repair for out of it cometh the joys of thy old age.

9. Forgive with grace. For who among us does not need to be forgiven?

10. Honor the Lord thy God all the days of thy life, and thy children will rise up and call thee blessed.

Truly yours, ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You advised my husband and me against buying a boat with another couple. If the other couple were relatives would your advice be the same? WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: With relatives, I'd have added "positively."

DEAR ABBY: I read an article in the newspaper yesterday criticizing women for wearing short skirts. I disagree. I think women who wear short skirts do a lot to brighten a world that can get mighty tedious and dreary. Viet Nam, race riots, strikes, the bottom dropping out of the stock market—nothing but terror and gloom.

So when I see a few inches above a woman's knee it cheers up what would otherwise have been a lousy day. It doesn't cost the ladies a cent and it does a lot for our morale. So I say, "Hike 'em up, girls, and the higher the better." All the guys in my car pool feel the same way. We discussed it. LIKES TO LOOK (©1966 by Chicago Trib.-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

TODAY GIRL SCOUTS HONOR THEIR FOUNDER

We join Girl Scouts everywhere in paying tribute to their founder, Juliette Low. She was born today, October 31—In 1860.

In 1912, Juliette Low founded the Girl Scout movement in the United States. American girls rejoiced at the avenues Girl Scouting opened to them, and now over 3½ million Girl Scouts enjoy the legacy left them by this farseeing woman.

For the next three years, the theme will be "Values to Hold—Worlds to Explore," and Girl Scouts the world over will put it into action. This is part and parcel of Juliette Low's legacy, and we hope the movement continues its steady, fruitful growth.

Junior Ski Club Training Slate Has 40 Enrolled

Nordic Junior Ski Club of Rosendale has started autumn training for jumping and cross country. Forty children between the ages of 8 and 16 are enrolled in classes that meet every Wednesday from 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. at the Marletown school.

The training program is divided into two periods of 45 minutes each covering physical training and theory.

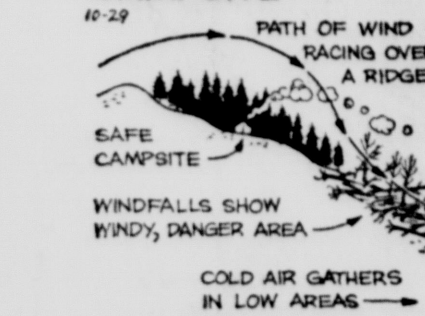

Kenneth Tokle of the famed ski family is jumping coach and Rune Karlsson serves as cross country coach. Each has an assistant. Karlsson is president of the Joppenberg Mountain Corporation. He had his early training in Sweden, and was in the ski troops of the U. S. Army during World War II.

Tokle and Karlsson have served as coaches since the Junior club program started two years ago. The Nordic club is in its fourth week of training and offers to accept a limited number of boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 16 who wish to join. They may come to the Marletown school or contact Karlsson in Rosendale by telephone.

In 1965, the Juniors competed in five meets and gave a good account of themselves. Meets were held at Beacon, Bear Mountain, Old Forge, Salisbury, Conn., and Rumford, Maine. The Eastern Amateur Ski Association rated them as the No. 4 club in the association. An ambitious program for the 1966-67 season has been mapped out.

PICKING A WINTER CAMPSITE

TRUST WILD GAME TO FIND THE warmest, wind-protected areas during cold weather—where you find numerous game tracks and beds will be a good spot to set up camp or spend a night if you're lost without camping gear.

Craig Hubbell Sets New Mark For NP Layout

Onteora Central High's cross country team—dead last in the 1965 event—went full cycle Friday to capture the 1966 UCAL championship over the 2.4 mile layout at New Paltz.

Coach Bernie Stahl's harriers scored 42 points to pick up their first title since 1959.

Trailing the Indians were: Pine Bush 49, Highland High 58, Walkkill Central 111, Rondout Valley 123, Marlboro Central 131, New Paltz 163.

Craig Hubbell, a junior, led the 48-runner field, running the race in 12 minutes, 38 seconds for a new record over the revised layout.

Pine Bush, which showed surprising strength, placed 2-3 with Warren Johnson (12:59) and John Brown (13:10). Homer Miller of Onteora was fourth in 13:15 and Glenn Brinkman of OCS eighth in 13:39.

Only one of Onteora's first five finishers was a senior, heralding perhaps a new cross country resurgence at the Boiceville school.

Sweet Swingers Don't Count Here
HONOLULU (AP) — This is no year for sweet swingers in the Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament.

Most of the guys in front at the midpoint would look bad in a neighborhood weekend four-some on style points.

And a spectator who only saw Doug Sanders play the 18th hole in the second round — where he took four to get down from the edge like any 20 handicapper — wouldn't believe that Sanders had a three-stroke lead.

But Sanders produced enough good shots to collect a second round 67 Friday and take the lead at 133 in the $57,000 tournament.

Miller Barber, the portly Louisiana veteran whose swing is almost as choppy as Sanders, and Ken Still, the cheerful Tacoma, Wash., teen man, were second with 136 total.

One stroke back at 137 were Al Bessell, who has adopted a new swing that resembles a striking cobra; Gay Brewer, who winds up like Don Drysdale; and Hawaiian Ted Makalena. Brewer is defending champion.

Bessell says he adopted his new swing "complete with a 'new secret' he has just discovered because he has to favor a tennis elbow. 'I've got a new swing and a new philosophy of golf' at the age of 42," he said.

Bill Casper's putter, which he chucked in the ocean during a practice round, came through for him and the U.S. Open champion recorded a 66 for a 138 and moved into contention.

Asked how it felt to have a three-stroke lead, Sanders said, "I think the last time I was that far in front was at Pensacola, and I got disqualified for signing the wrong scorecard."

Lakers Victory May Prove Costly

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
San Francisco's offense-minded Warriors came up with some just-in-time defense Friday in beating Baltimore 105-104.

Late in the game, Nate Thurmond, the Warrior center who had 19 points and 25 rebounds, blocked a shot by Gus Johnson that would have tied the game and, with 39 seconds left, Jeff Mullins tied up Baltimore's Don Ohl.

With these key plays stopping the Bullets, Jim King connected on a 10-foot jump shot with 26 seconds left for the San Francisco victory.

Johnson led all the scorers, with 33 points, and Rick Barry and Fred Hetzel led the Warriors, with 28 and 26 respectively.

Eddie Miles led Detroit to a 129-117 victory over Chicago. Miles threw in 35 points and put the Pistons ahead with 8:50 left in the third period, and they were never headed. Bob Boozer led the Bulls with 31 points.

Leading only 58-54 at halftime, the Los Angeles Lakers broke loose after intermission to beat the New York Knicks 124-114.

However, the Lakers, who have been playing without star guard Jerry West, suffered a blow near the end of the first half when Elgin Baylor fell and suffered a strained ligament in his right knee. He will be out indefinitely.

Walt Hazzard and Rudy LaRusso led the Lakers, with 24 points each. Walt Bellamy got 28 and Willis Reed added 26 for the Knicks. Baylor scored 19 before being injured.

Boys Beat Girls In Kickball Set
Third and fourth grade boys All Star Kickball team defeated the fifth and sixth grade girls team, 29-28, in a hard fought game Friday night at the YMCA.

The boys jumped off to an early 14-3 lead but the girls rallied with 16 runs in the top half of the fourth to go ahead, 19-16. The score was eventually tied 24-24 at the regulation 6 innings before the boys went on to win in overtime.

Home runs were hit by William Chafin, Terry Moore and Richard Siegel for the winners. A rematch is expected in the near future.

Led by individual winner John Collins, the Goldbacks dethroned Kingston with 46 points, as the Maroons placed second with 55.

Collins was clocked in 13 minutes, one second, to finish four seconds ahead of runnerup, J. T. Motl of Monticello. Allen Drake led the Kingston contingent in fourth place.

Steve Keyes of Port Jervis led the field with 20 yards to go but faded badly and wound in fifth place.

KHS, Vincintian Collide Tonight

Kingston High hopes to complete a perfect home record for the season when it entertains Vincintian Institute of Albany tonight, 8 o'clock at Dietz Stadium.

The defending Diocesan champions have a 3-1-1 record. They tied Catholic Central, 0-0 in their latest start.

Kingston shows three wins in five outings, having defeated Albany, Poughkeepsie and Port Jervis while losing to New Rochelle and Cardinal Farley Military Academy. Both setbacks have been inflicted on the road.

After tonight's tilt, Coach Bill Hurley's gridgers have away contests at Middletown (Nov. 12) and at Newburgh (Thanksgiving Day).

Rose Bowl Is Out For Super Bowl
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Rose Bowl apparently is out as the site of the so-called super-bowl post-season championship game between the National and American professional football league teams in January.

The Pasadena Chamber of Commerce, which was the official organization backing the game, withdrew its support in an executive session Friday.

Pasadena, Miami, Houston and several other cities had been bidding for the super-bowl game between the champions of the two top professional leagues, tentatively set for Jan. 8.

Pasadena made it clear it does not want to endanger the prestige of what it considers the outstanding college bowl game of the year, and indeed the oldest in the country, with an invasion of professional football.

Officials of the Athletic Association of Western Universities (AAUW) and the Big Ten, which have a contract for the annual New Year's Day Rose Bowl Game, made it clear they did not like the professional encroachment.

Contractual terms which might have evolved also presented a problem between the college and proposed professional fields, mainly involving rich television contracts.

Senators Beaten By Westchester
Westchester Community College harriers nipped Ulster County Community College, 27-28, over the 3.1 mile Westchester course.

Mike Reif of Westchester led the field with a winning time of 17 minutes, 5 seconds. John Roettger of UCC was second and teammate, John Sullivan, placed third.

Trailing in order were: Larry Edwards, Bill Murphy, Westchester; Brian Elmeroff, Ron Linsay, Ulster; Phil Torigio, Greg Green, Westchester; Dave Loper, UCC; Pete DiGargi, Westchester and Joe O'Brien, UCC.

The Ulster Senators were hindered by the absence of Barry Hopkins, one of the team's top runners and holder of the home course record, who has been ill with pneumonia.

Fight Liquor Prices
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A State Supreme Court justice has rejected a move by the House of Seagram Inc. to block new liquor - price regulations from taking effect Nov. 1.

Justice Louis A. Bruhn turned down the distilling firm's request for a temporary injunction Friday and said he was not "impressed" by Seagram's plea of urgency.

The regulations, which were approved by a special session of the Legislature two years ago, establish that liquor prices in New York State be no higher than the lowest prices charged in other states.

An attorney for the company had argued the no-higher-than-lowest edict could lead to the removal of brand-name liquor from the state.

Gov. Rockefeller has said the new regulations ultimately will bring about lower liquor prices in the state.

Business Week in Review

By SALLY RYAN
NEW YORK (AP) — From the nation's biggest corporations to the corner supermarket, there were disquieting business signs this week.

The question: Has the business boom reached a peak?

A wave of rosy company earnings figures and dividend increases pushed the stock market up. But several industrial giants reported lower profits.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steel producer, raised its quarterly dividend, although it reported that its earnings for the past three months were down 14 per cent.

Five Suffer Drops

Five of the nine steel companies reported profit drops.

At the same time, General Motors Corp., the world's biggest manufacturer, said its net income for the quarter was barely one-third of what it was a year ago and its lowest since 1961.

Chrysler and Ford Motor Co. also reported a sharp drop in profits.

But the companies predicted better times.

"The year ahead should prove to be another year of good business for the automobile industry and General Motors," GM said.

Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, a worldwide oil company; Burlington Industries Inc., the largest domestic producer of textile products; and Borden Co., a large food producer, all checked in with record 1966 earnings.

More Steelmen Laid Off

Automobile sales, however, were down and steel production eased again. The steel industry began to lay off more men as the demand for steel slipped.

The biggest businessmen of all, the members of the Business Council, indicated they expect the economy to slow down next year—not a recession, just a slowdown.

They foresee a difficult year with a tax increase, big labor contract settlements and a profit squeeze.

Pierre D. Rinfret, an economist who has advised President Johnson in the past, was gloomier. He took issue with what he called "Washington's politically inspired economic forecasts," and predicted a definite downturn in 1967.

And for the first time, a Federal Reserve Board member, J. Dewey Dean, indicated that doubts about the economic outlook might be tempering the board's views on economic restraint.

Wanted Tax Increase

Last Spring, Deane argued strongly for a tax increase to restrain the economy. This week he said the question of a tax increase would be put off until January.

He said there was uncertainty about the course of the domestic economy and the war in Viet Nam.

But he added: "We hear lots of recession talk, but we don't see it yet in the figures."

The Johnson administration has rejected tax increase proposals for months, saying it needed more information, that it wanted to see how much money Congress appropriated.

Voted Less Money

As it turned out, Congress voted less money than expected.

That eased a little of the pressure for a tax increase, but left two other factors—the war and the general economic outlook.

Some slowing down of the rise in the cost of living was forecast by professional economists in a report to the Business Council.

They indicated price inflation would continue, but not at a runaway rate.

"The big question mark is the level of expenditures for Viet Nam and the possibility of tax rate increases to support those expenditures," said William M. Batten, J.C. Penney Co. Inc., chairman.

Non-Defense Costs Cut

"Our consultants believe that cutting the government's non-defense expenditures is a better attack on inflation, certainly as a first step, than a tax increase," he told the Business Council.

Archie K. Davis, retiring president of the American Bankers Association, said a decision to cut nondefense spending could result in further growth of inflationary pressures.

The Business Council chairman, W. B. Murphy, blamed the over-all economy, with its rising cost pressures, for spreading supermarket boycotts.

"The retailers are not the guilty party," said Murphy, who is Campbell Soup Co. president. "Neither is the food processor the guilty party. The guilty party is the over-all economy. The food store is a handy goat for the housewife, but the housewife is wrong."

The president of the National Association of Food Chains, Gordon F. Bloom, suggested that the government put greater emphasis on increasing food supplies and cutting costs.

A positive program to boost food supplies would be the most anti-inflationary medicine that could now be administered by the government," said Bloom, president of Elm Farms Foods Co. in Boston.

because Orbiter 1 is expected to become inoperative by mid-November, space officials decided to replace it.

Fuel Almost Gone

The officials said Orbiter 1 soon would exhaust fuel for its attitude control thrusters. This would cause the craft to tumble out of control.

NASA officials fear this occasionally would permit its solar panels to send sudden surges of power into the battery which could turn on Orbiter 1's transmitter and interfere with Orbiter 2 operations.

Space agency spokesman said earlier this month Orbiter 1 photographs disclosed evidence of dynamic processes on the moon, including faults or slippages of the surface such as occur on earth.

Its pictures also showed volcanic activity on the moon's surface as well as materials "slumping" or sliding from the rims of countless craters.

Car Kills Child

RUSH, N.Y. (AP)—A 2-year-old boy died beneath the wheels of an automobile Friday on a street near his home in this suburb of Rochester.

The child was Mark Bartleson of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bartleson of Rush.

The driver told Monroe County sheriff's deputies that she saw the child in the road and tried to swerve to avoid hitting him. Bright sunlight also may have hampered her vision, they said.

The Bartleson home is at 652 W. Rush Road.

Split-Level House Plan Suited for Flat Ground

By Jack McElency

The beauty of a split-level home is threefold. It allows you to fit the house on a sloping lot, saves a great deal of stair climbing by reducing the number of steps by half, and adds to the privacy of living. Associated Architects today presents a house plan that incorporates these advantages with an "extra"—the house is so designed that it may also be constructed on level ground. Thus, if you have your eye on—or own—a lot with or without a slope you can build a split-level home.

Blueprints for "The Wentworth," as this plan is called, are available at moderate cost. They'll show you every detail, including sizes; and if you decide to build, the same drawings may be used in actual construction. "The Wentworth" has three bedrooms, about ideal for most American families. They range in size from 9 1/2 by 12 feet to 11 by 14 1/2 feet substantial sizes for most bedroom furniture.

Closest space? Just examine the accompanying floor plan and you'll see wardrobes with sliding doors, modern, efficient equipment that add to useful wall space.

Speaking of closets, the plan clearly indicates how the closets add up to make for excellent storage. In the hall and bathroom are two linen closets, and there is a coat closet just as you enter the front door. Several built-ins round out the storage features of "The Wentworth," including a pair of floor-to-ceiling bookcases on either side of the fireplace and the china cabinet between living and dining rooms.

Let's see just how the split level here saves you steps and adds privacy to your home life. Suppose you're in the living room and want to go to the bedrooms or bath. Six short steps partially open for an airy appearance lead to the sleeping quarters on the higher level. Or, if you prefer to go to the garage, playroom or basement, a brief flight of steps down takes you there. Three well-defined separate levels result in more all-around privacy and tend to make life a lot easier.

The kitchen in this home is roomy. There is a decided advantage to a spacious kitchen when one considers how many accidents occur there. From the point of view of efficiency, the layout of equipment is essentially like that of a ship's galley, where space must be put to best use.

To give a "big effect," this plan calls for living and dining rooms to connect—you get a room the full width of the house—but a short wall and the china cabinet make it clear that the rooms have their individual functions.

Trumps Can Break Badly

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When you hold eight trumps in your hand and dummy you are entitled to assume that the enemy's five trumps will divide 3-2. They will do that about 68 per cent of the time.

If they split 4-1 as they do 28 per cent of the time or 5-0 as happens occasionally, and the adverse split leads to defeat of your contract, you may be entitled to complain a trifle about bad luck.

South won the club lead with dummy's ace and played a small spade. East stuck in the nine and was allowed to hold the trick. Then he played his singleton trump. South won, cashed his ace of spades, ruffed his last spade in dummy, ruffed a club and played a high trump. East showed out.

South played out the hand slowly but had no way to avoid the loss of three more tricks. He complained about his bad luck but he had no real right to complain.

South should have studied the hand carefully before playing to the second trick. He could count ten tricks if trumps broke but he could also take some precautions in case they happened to break 4-1.

His correct play would be to ruff a club at trick two and lead a spade. East would win and lead a trump. South would win, take the ace of spades, ruff a spade, ruff another club in his own hand and then go after trumps. They still wouldn't break but it wouldn't hurt South. He would make his last trump by ruffing dummy's last club. Of course this play wouldn't have worked if West held only three clubs but it represented an extra chance that was well-worth taking.

Vandals Hit Alderman

Raymond Armater of 84 Washington Avenue, the 11th Ward alderman of Kingston, reported to city police that sometime during the night vandals broke the antenna of his car, stole the gas cap and let the air out of all the tires.

Armater said the thieves also made off with some drills he had in his garage. He said he observed three youths in a sports car but could not get the license number. City police are investigating.

Albany Man Hurt In Area Mishap

According to State Police in Dutchess County, Reitting was a passenger in a car driven by Francis McCabe Jr., 38, of 13 Hutton Street Albany. Troopers said the McCabe vehicle collided into the rear of an automobile driven by Mardell Balga, 23, of Nub Street, Hyde Park, as she was executing a right turn into South Drive. McCabe was issued a summons by investigating troopers for following too closely. The summons is returnable before Judge Hill, of Hyde Park.

Iron Horse—colorful frontier railroading, in color, stars Dale Robertson in the hour-long Monday evening ABC-TV drama. Bob Random plays Robertson's young helper. Also starring: some venerable railroad equipment of a long-gone era.

'Iron Horse,' on Weekly Run, Hauls Train of Nostalgia, Adventure

By DON ROYAL

NEW YORK

Tears are shed daily by the faithful for the almost-vanished steam locomotive, and a whole generation is largely unacquainted with the marvelous machine.

But there's hope left for the railroad buffs and television viewers who yearn for the smell of coal smoke and the sound of clanging bells and steam whistles. The Iron Horse rides the rails again.

Chugging into the local stations over the ABC television network each Monday night at 7:30-8:30 p. m. Eastern time, The Iron Horse is a full-hour, full-color story from Screen Gems of the rough-and-ready West of the 1870's, and how one man built a railroad through it.

Dale Robertson stars as Ben Calhoun, the hard-fisted hard-fighting owner of the BPS&D—The Buffalo Pass, Scalplock & Defiance Railroad—in the type of role made famous by Clark Gable. Gable fans—and they are legion—will note in Robertson a strong physical resemblance to their idol. Calhoun has a liking for the opposite sex, and a lucky touch which turns mud into money.

Calhoun's sidekick in the series, Barnabus Rogers, is played by actor Bob Random, who scored in frequent appearances on last season's Gidget series. Gary Collins, whom many remember as captain of the Kiwi in The Wackiest Ship in the Army, costars as Dave Tarrant, Calhoun's trusted and hard-working foreman.

Calhoun's luck brought the BPS&D into his lap. He won it in a high stakes poker game in Kansas City.

But that was as far as his luck took him.

What he really won when he took possession of the BPS&D was a pack of troubles and a debt-ridden woebegone spur line that did little more than run a few miles into the frontier, to a waiting mob of unpaid railroad workers.

It took the sweat and ingenuity of iron-willed men such as Calhoun to take those early streaks of rust and weld them into the economy.

Those were the days of the hardy loggers and miners, the ranchers and railroad work crews. And those days, and those men, formed the beginning of one of America's most romantic and exciting eras, in which the railroads played a major role.

To put a story of such an era and such a group of rugged individuals on film, one just about has to use the same type of rugged individual to do it.

The hazards of filming large-scale productions are many.

Camermen are literally roped onto locomotives as the trains puff back and forth across the rough roadbed in the foothills of the High Sierra, near Sonora, Calif., where the series is filmed.

Professional stuntmen with years of skilled experience in taking falls battle it out atop speeding trains as they make their way across narrow trestles and up and down the winding tracks.

The locomotive used in filming The Iron Horse, renamed "Pete" for the series, is an ancient relic which has been entirely refitted as a diesel-powered engine, but retains all of its "authentic" look from days gone by.

Inside the cab is an elaborate set of controls which enables the engineer to make smoke, black or white, belch from the diamond stack atop the throbbing boiler.

Now painted a resplendent red with green trim for its colorful part as costar in The Iron Horse series, Pete puffs and chugs along almost the identical tracks it did when it was doing a real job of hauling lumber from the lush forest of the High Sierra into the lumber mills below.

Across the plains and through the mountains, Pete pulls a private railroad car, "La Bonne Chance" — Calhoun's luxurious castle on wheels—and the viewing public is treated each week to an authentic and colorful panorama of the early days of the era of the steam engine.

The train is, after all, a star of The Iron Horse series, and is treated as such. For Ben Calhoun is not driving sheep or cattle across the plains, or riding about the prairies in search of desperados.

This is a Western in which a railroad is being advanced, tie after tie, rail after rail, into a wilderness that will reap prosperity and success for future generations of Americans once the link is completed.

The Iron Horse is described with undisguised enthusiasm by producer Herbert Hirschman as "a producer's dream—the ideal television show with size, scope, excitement, drama, comedy, style. It has it all."

As Ben Calhoun, Dale Robertson fits smoothly into the shoes of the suave, devil-may-care man-of-the-world frontiersman he has been cast to portray.

In real life and outside his activities as an actor, emcee, and rodeo and fair personal appearance star, Robertson is owner-operator of two quarter horse breeding ranches and a business tycoon who heads up several major enterprises.

As a railroad foreman, Gary Collins fits as neatly into the part as any foreman could. When signed for the part of Rip Riddle in Wackiest Ship last year, Collins was carrying steel beams for a construction company in Las Vegas, Nev., and doing very well at it. He was working for the best wages he could while skilled only for the theater.

A native of Venice, Calif., Collins 6 feet 2, is 26 and attended Venice High and Santa for a business career in accounting before entering military service.

While in the service in Germany, he was attracted to the base community theater. After being discharged in Europe, he stayed on to do theater work there and to take a post with the Armed Forces Radio and Television Services in Amsterdam.

After 5½ years in Europe, Collins returned to Hollywood, where he landed Wackiest co-starring role and eventually his current costarring role as Dave Tarrant in The Iron Horse.

Bob Random is another "natural" for his part.

Barely old enough to vote, Bob is already a veteran actor with credits in such television shows as The Virginian, Gunsmoke, Ben Casey, Gidget, Mr. Novak, Shenandoah and Jesse James.

Born in Chilliwack, British Columbia, Canada, he is a lover of the outdoors and is used to the rugged life the frontiersman lived.

He seems to live the part of Ben Calhoun's youthful right-hand man. From all appearances, one would gather that Bob Random—as Barnabus Rogers—is "back home" on the frontier he grew up on.

The Iron Horse is a big production by any scale of measurement. In the words of Harry Ackerman, executive producer of the new series, "It has a big job to do and therefore has to be a big production."

The job Ackerman refers to is, of course, the telling of many stories at one time.

And the story, created by director James Goldstone and writer-producer Stephen Kandel, is well told.

Train buffs, adventure lovers, western addicts, comedy followers — all viewers of television seem to have been taken into consideration when this series was put together.

DALE ROBERTSON, as Ben Calhoun, schedules the fortunes of "IRON HORSE" in her weekly run over ABC's track of home screens. ROGER TORREY, as Nils Torvald, supplies muscle for the winning of an ironbound west in the adventure tale, which airs 7:30-8:30 p. m. Monday's.

...THE STAR OF "IRON HORSE" RAMBLES THROUGH THE HIGH SIERRA ON ONE OF HER MANY ADVENTURE-BOUND JOURNEYS. The ABC SHOW, WITH Dale Robertson AT THE THROTTLE, AIRS MONDAY EVENINGS, 7:30-8:30 EASTERN TIME.

It looks as if ABC Stage '67 is the show that will be moved from its present Wednesday night spot to Thursdays, replacing Hawk, which has been cancelled.

Pam Freeman, who plays Phyllis Diller's daughter on The Pruitts of Southampton, is a former lead dancer on Shindig.

Jim Connell, who plays the gangster's bookish son on Run Buddy Run, has made such a good impression on his bosses at Talent Associates that they are looking around for a series in which he could star.

Geraldine Brooks came in New York to film a segment of Hawk and managed to get one free day before she headed back to California.

Her free day went like this: A walk in Central Park, a trip to the zoo, a luncheon date, a matinee ("Mame"), dinner with high school chum Lauren Bacall, and an evening at the theater ("Sweet Charity").

The role of Dick Tracy in the pilot for a series being now duced by William (Batman and The Green Hornet) Dozier has been given to Ray MacDonnell, familiar to daytime viewers for his role in The Edge of Night. He has been on that show since 1961.

Still another switch in The Fugitive is in the planning stages. This is a series called The Legend of Will Savage, about a gunslinger's son who searches the old West for his father. Walter Brennan stars as the boy's grandfather, who accompanies him on the search.

Gladys Cooper, who played Rex Harrison's mother in My Fair Lady has just played a Thrush Agent in The Girl from U.N.C.L.E. which we all know stars Rex's son, Noel.

Seven-year-old Mark Klemperer, the son of Werner Klemperer who plays Commandant Klink on Hogan's Heroes, is causing his father a bit of embarrassment. Seems Mark watched Time Tunnel, the last half hour of which is opposite Hogan's Heroes, and liked Time Tunnel so much he said to his father, "Well, I won't be watching you on Hogan's Heroes this year."

There's Gossip About...

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — There's something new to gossip about on Peyton Place.

Not on camera, but between scenes and during coffee breaks when members of the cast and crew talk shop. The gossip is about Mariette Hartley, the actress who played the frigid Dr. Claire Morton in 34 episodes of Peyton Place before she was written out of the show via a trip to Peru to watch her husband die.

So what's the gossip about Mariette?

On Peyton Place, where no one ever laughs, they envy Mariette her latest TV series role which even this early in the new season is winning her comparisons with Mary Tyler Moore.

If you have seen The Hero on NBC-TV, you will understand the comparison. Gorgeous, red-haired Mariette is playing Ruth, the wife of title star Richard Mulligan as The Hero. The Hero is a TV western star who at home is just a normal fellow with an allergy to sagebrush, a deadly fear of horses and ten thumbs.

It is played for laughs and Mariette, with a background of heavy drama, Peyton Place and Shakespearean productions, couldn't be happier. "I've always wanted to play comedy and I'm amazed the producers of the show going out on a limb for me. "But if they were worried, I wasn't really. There's a lot of broad comedy in the Shakespearean plays I've done."

There's also a lot of Ruth in Mariette, whose sense of humor corrects you about Peyton Place being a place where no one ever laughs," she says, "except when they are drunk or leaving the show."

As a member of the cast she says she learned never to cough on camera — "if you do, the gossip is you will be given a fatal illness."

As Dr. Claire Morton on the show she always appeared in medical white. In a number of TV westerns—Bonanza, The Virginian, Gunsmoke and Staney Burke—she was a girl in western gingham.

Now as Ruth, the assistant hero, she's playing bedroom scenes in filmy gowns and wearing other fashionable duds. For a girl as attractive as Mariette it's about time.

She beams: "This is the first time I've ever played a modern woman—it's a whole new world for me."

It's All A Put-On . . .

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
HOLLYWOOD — We have with us today Jonathan Winters—and his secret weakness. He is, he says, "The International Loony" when it comes to putting on people that he meets on his travels. "It's amazing," he says, "but if you really act out a put-on people will believe anything."
 Jonathan, who is solo starring for the first time in Universal's "WORLD PREMIERE: 'The Midnight Oil,'" a color movie made especially for NBC-TV this fall, says he discovered the kicks to be derived from putting on people when he was in the Marine Corps.
 One day he approached his C.O. and suggested that since great military leaders like Caesar, Hannibal and Napoleon all rode white horses, the officer might consider emulating them by appearing before his men from time to time on a white horse.
 "You IDIOT," the C.O. roared, "don't you know this is a mobilized unit?"
 Jonathan says he gulped meekly and said:
 "Well, then, sir, what about a white tank?"
 Well, that started it and Jonathan has now perfected the fine art of pulling the legs of perfect strangers.
 On a plane from New York recently he decided to deflate the boisterous man in the next seat. When the fellow passenger got around to asking his destination, Winters said:

"Sir, I'm getting off at Los Angeles and from there they're taking me to the funny farm."
 A few minutes later the man asked the stewardess to change his seat.
 Once Winters and British comedian Terry-Thomas, attired in R.A.F. uniforms for a Hollywood costume party, dropped into a night spot for a quick drink.
 A southern matron who didn't know him from Richard Burton or anybody else fell for his line about being a descendant of 18th Century Australian pioneers who were forced to murder kangaroos.
 "Times were bad, ma'am," Winters dead-panned while Terry-Thomas choked on his drink, "so they were forced to chop the tails off kangaroos, paint the tails white, dry them in the sun and sell them to Hong Kong merchants as ivory tusks."
 "Oh, my goodness," exclaimed the woman. "That was very clever."
 But the shoe can be on the other foot.
 During a location filming Winters overheard a woman screaming at her 10-year-old son to go up to him and ask him to pose for a picture.
 Seeing the shy child hold back, Jonathan assured the mother that she could take his picture and that it wasn't necessary to force the youngster to make the request.
 "It IS necessary," snapped the woman. "The child has to learn to meet the public."

After a long career in Combat, where he spends most of his time traipsing through the mud and fighting battles, Vic Morrow is going to get a love scene and a kiss from Carol Lawrence.
 "I don't get many love scenes in the series, you know," he said. "How many top sergeants would you have wanted to make love to?"
 Chris George returned to New York for a brief visit after finishing 17 episodes of Rat Patrol filmed in Spain. He took a walk down New York's Fifth Avenue and was not recognized. People kept looking at him with a "the face is familiar" look, but no obvious recognition.
 "I got more recognition from the 'Mr. Grey' commercial," Chris told TV SCOUT. That's a commercial he made five years ago in which he was shaving and talking to his bride who said, "I like my new name, Mr. Grey."
 "I think every comedian in the country had jokes about that commercial," Chris laughed. "One went, 'Good morning, Mr. Grey,' said the woman. 'Good morning, Mrs. Jones,' said the man."
 A Hollywood wag wonders if the seven-part Lassie series has given the popular dog a "new leash on life."

TV Questions & Answers

LATE SECRETS—Why can't I've Got a Secret be on earlier? —Mrs. D. Barriault, Somerset, Wis.

It's lucky to be on at all. It was almost dropped this season because of low ratings. Finally a late Monday evening time slot was found on the CBS-TV network.

GARRY'S EXIT—Is the Garry Moore Show going to be axed? Why? They should kill the stupid series, It's About Time, instead! —Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McAlvney, Grantsburg, Wis.
 Garry's show is in trouble but CBS-TV is going to see if it can build an audience. It's About Time seems to have found fans and is assured of staying on a while.

FAVORITE RAT — Tell me more about Hans Gudegast the best actor on Rat Patrol. —Miss J. Hill, St. Paul, Minn.

Gudegast, who plays the German Captain Dietrich on the ABC-TV adventure series, is from Kiel, Germany. He has been here since 1959 and has since lived in Texas, Montana and California. Home is now Westwood, Calif. His first acting job was on Combat. His movies include "Operation Eichmann" and "Morituri." On Broadway he was seen in "The Great Outdoors." A bachelor, the actor is 6 feet 1½, weighs 185 pounds and has brown hair and brown eyes.

ANIMAL REALISM — Where are there real life animal hospitals as depicted in Daktari? —Mrs. Bryson, McMinnville, Ore.

Many of the larger game preserves in Africa, and other continents, have such infirmaries. The one in the CBS-TV series, however, is only make-believe. It's part of the set of Africa.

U.S.A., producer Ivan Tors' jungle-like studio, outside Hollywood.

McGOOHAN'S RETURN—On which network will Patrick McGooohan's new series, The Prisoner, be shown? —Virginia E. Green, Shadyside, Ohio.
 CBS-TV has bought the British-produced adventure series. It may be a mid-season replacement or an entry in the 1967-68 schedule.

COMEDIAN'S SON — Did Buddy Hackett recently play Lee "Health" Majors' father on The Big Valley? —D. Lovekamp, Peoria, Ill.

In the season premiere episode, "The Lost Treasure," Hackett played a character who tried to pass himself off as Heath's pop. His masquerade didn't work.

AGING OPIE — How old is Ronny Howard of The Andy Griffith Show? —B.R., Miami, Fla.

He is 12. The young actor was born in Duncan, Okla., and has played Opie on the CBS-TV series since it went on the air in 1960. Ronny now lives with his parents and brother Clint, 7, (who is also an actor) in Burbank, Calif.

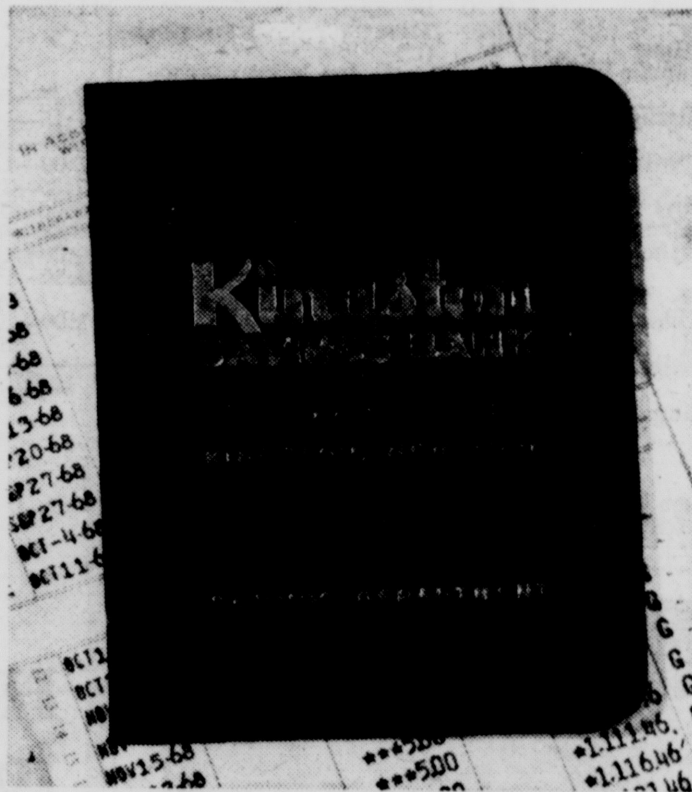

DINNER IS SERVED — Who played the English butler on the series, Our Man Higgins, some years back? —Mrs. E. Tollard, St. Paul, Minn.

Stanley Holloway, who gained fame in the Broadway and movie versions of the musical, "My Fair Lady."

SINGLE GIRL—Who is Mario Thomas's husband? —D.M.S., Champaign, Ill.

The star of ABC-TV series, That Girl, has never been married. She is the eldest (she is 26) daughter of comedian Danny Thomas.

Needs Time

Bruce Gordon, who co-stars with Jack Sheldon in CBS-TV's Run, Buddy, Run, denies that the show is on the edge of being cancelled. "There have been unauthorized statements printed in the paper, and I resent it. It's unfair. Besides, TV shows need a little time to build." Run, Buddy, Run had been praised in advance of airing by most of the people who saw it, but so far it has not caught on in the ratings wars.

Champagne Bet

Richard Basehart and Terry Becker have a bet on how long their series, Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea, will remain on TV. If it doesn't last for three more years, Becker will owe Basehart a double jumbo of champagne.

Fire Fighters

Some of the actors and crew members of The Monroes recently joined in a bit of drama not being photographed for the cameras. They joined in fighting a forest fire in the area.

Most Wanted Man in TV

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD—Morey Amsterdam is busier and making more money than when he was quipping it up on The Dick Van Dyke Show.

But like all concerned — Dick Mary Tyler Moore, Richard-Deacon and Rose Marie—he misses the one-for-all, all-for-one palship which kept the series going for five years.

How well all got along has been recorded before.

"But what hasn't been written," says Morey, "is that never in five years did I ever hear someone say, 'That will be good enough.' We always strived for perfection, right from the beginning. I remember the day we spent two hours just discussing the name of Dick's boss. It was in the scrip as Alan Sturdy. No one liked it. After two hours we finally changed it to Alan Brady. It was typical of the way all of our scripts were handled."

Five years on the show left Morey as one of the most wanted men in show business, wanted for TV, night clubs, movies, personal appearances.

He just returned from a night club engagement in Australia, where the Van Dyke show is No. 1 in popularity, and now he has dates to keep in Houston, Chicago, Honolulu, almost anywhere.

But he's not rushing into another TV series.

"I've been offered a lot of junk," he says. "One I couldn't believe. It was a satire on Tarzan called Irving, Lord of the Jungle."

But the jungle is at least claiming Morey for a guest appearance on a forthcoming Dakarti show on CBS-TV. He plays a TV comedian who comes to the jungle with a tape recorder to capture the sound of animals which he plans to impersonate. The plot leads up to a tape-recorded interview he does with Judy, the chimp. Morey asks as well as answers the questions and it's hilarious.

There's even talk of this show as a spin-off for a series starring Morey as the head of a safari outfitting company in Africa. But you get the idea he'd rather re-team with Rose Marie on a show called The Love Birds, on which writers are working.

Morey's memories of TV go as far back as 1946 when he was the host of a New York variety show called The Goden Goose Cafe. Two bit players on this show were to become famous.

One of the waiters Morey hired for a comedy bit was Art Carney, who previously had played only heavies. The hat check girl was Jacqueline Susann, whose first novel, "Valley of The Dolls," is a best seller.

"That show started a lot of people to fame," he recalls. "I paid a girl named Rosemary Clooney $60 to sing on the show and all I could pay a young fellow named Mel Torme was a pair of cuff links."

Grimes Quotes

Want some more Tammy Grimes quotes, now highly significant since the early demise of her show?

After seven episodes had been filmed, she said she hadn't really seen her show. She only checked the screen from time to time to see how her costumes looked. (She wore her own in the pilot, and had 17 changes.)

After doing seven episodes, Tammy was asked what she thought of TV. She said, "Now that I've done seven shows, I feel as if I have been doing the show for years. It's a good feeling. But I wish television had the mystique of the theater."

Betsy's Secret Is Revealed

NEW YORK—Betsy Palmer's reputation was almost ruined recently because of two men.

The pretty blonde of I've Got a Secret and one of the smartest panelists in television couldn't identify George Hamilton, the actor and beau of Lynda Bird Johnson, and John Gary, the popular singer.

"When their names came up, I drew an absolute blank. I never heard of either one of them," she confessed at the Algonquin. "Everybody—or at least we hope they do—thinks we're so smart on those quiz shows. Sometimes we just have to bluff our way through."

The pro of 10 years of playing TV quiz games admitted her sunny smile has pulled her through more tight squeezes on I've Got a Secret.

"I guess the secret in playing the game is to be yourself. You must also try to get involved with what is going on," she added.

After so many years, Miss Palmer has often found "getting involved" rough.

"Sometimes you couldn't care less. Who cares if a man's secret is that he wears contact lenses and so does his dog?" she asked.

Unlike Arlene Francis who once said the security of playing game shows had hindered her in becoming a better actress, Miss Palmer feels the programs have made her a better performer.

During the summer, she is constantly starring in East Coast summer stock productions. And she recently replaced Lauren Bacall for a week in the Broadway hit comedy, "Cactus Flower."

"I wanted to show producer David Merrick and the New York audience that I was a serious actress, too," said Miss Palmer whose last Broadway effort was a couple of years ago in the flop "Roar Like a Dove."

She summed up her feelings by saying:

"There is no such thing as security in television. Your show can be cancelled tomorrow. Then where are you? Because of my family (she is married to a New Jersey doctor and has a daughter) I have no desire to go to California for the dramatic TV shows. I stay here and do quiz games hoping some day I'll have a Broadway hit of my own."

Meanwhile, she will have to put up with men like George Hamilton, John Gary and dogs who wear contact lenses.

Camp Counselors

Barry Nelson, who is starring on Broadway in "Cactus Flower," was discussing the "camp" craze with Abe Burrows. "Batman is going like a house afire and there will be a whole crop of camp shows like it on television," Nelson said. Burrows topped him, explaining he is working on a show to out-camp them all. "Mine's going to be so completely camp that instead of a director and producer, it will have counselors."

Music to Burn

When Liberace was a guest on The Roger Miller Show recently, host and guest planned a duet. During rehearsal, Roger was given an antique music stand with burning candles on each side. As he set the music down, the sheets ignited. Those who know Roger say it was no accident. And a wag suggested they should have played the "Ritual Fire Dance" of De Falla.

Smothers Bros. May Get Another Shot at TV Fame

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can two talented, fresh-faced young men find success in television? The Smothers Brothers didn't the first time around, but in keeping with the American tradition of fair play, they'll get another chance.

It could have happened next January. Tom and Dick were sought for an hour-long variety show first by ABC and then by NBC, which wanted them to sub for the ailing Garry Moore show.

Opposite Bonanza

That would have placed them opposite the seemingly unconquerable "Bonanza." To quote Red Skelton: "I wouldn't give that spot to a leopard." But "Bonanza" held no terror for the Brothers Smothers.

"Don't you think Phil Silvers was worried when he was placed opposite Mr. Television?" reasons Dick, the serious brother. "Yet it wasn't long before Sgt. Bilko knocked Milton Berle off the air."

"We would have liked the spot opposite 'Bonanza.' A show that has been on the air for eight years is due for a fall."

But the Smothers turned down the offers to sub midseason for Garry Moore or "Jericho."

Their reasons? "I'm just too beat," says Tom, the screwball brother. "I've been having a divorce and an ulcer, and I still haven't re-

Reynolds Episode

Burt Reynolds is happy about one thing, now that his critically acclaimed but low-rated series Hawk has been cancelled: he is being allowed to direct the final episode. "If the show hadn't been cancelled," he told TV Scout, "they wouldn't have let me direct until late next season."

covered from the last series. I don't want to go into another series tired. Everything has to be right, because we wouldn't get a third chance."

"The Smothers Brothers Show," which faded from CBS last season, was a traumatic experience for both. They claim they were caught in the middle of various masterminds who limited them to a rigid, unoriginal formula.

But next time, both vowed, they'll retain more control. They are looking forward to the variety show, which probably will start next September.

"We'll be able to work with guest stars, do sketches and all kinds of things," said Dick. "It's what we need to get away from the routine of talking to each other, the same old shtick."

The brothers can be seen on Jack Benny's special Dec. 1 and "Alice Through the Looking Glass" Nov. 6, both on NBC.

Charm, Wisdom Again Highlight TV Charlie Brown

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Charlie Brown and his little friends celebrated Halloween on CBS Thursday night and demonstrated that faith and an optimistic attitude triumph in the end.

Still Having Hard Time

The worried little cartoon character, Charlie, continues to have a hard time. He was invited to his first Halloween party but hard-hearted Lucy immediately chopped him down by telling him that it was a mistake. When he went out trick-or-treating, the other kids wound up with the money and the candy. He got a bag of rocks. But in the end, he was certain he had been having fun.

Chief protagonist of "It's the Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown," was his friend, Linus, the boy with the blanket. Linus, although jeered by his pals, shivered all night in a pumpkin patch awaiting the arrival of "The Great Pumpkin Who Flies Through the Air and Brings Toys to All the Children in the World."

As in two past specials about Charlie, the half-hour animated show had charm, adult wit and wisdom.

Halloween, naturally, is a big occasion for the chic and unspooky witches and warlocks of ABC's "Bewitched." The annual show Thursday night hunt the story — carelessly — around an All Hallows Eve party thrown by the witch Endora for the inner circle.

Bewitched Slips

It was not up to the usual standard of the comedy since it relied almost entirely on trick photography for laughs. It just wasn't very amusing.

Many of the daytime game shows make a specialty of using "celebrity guests" who star in evening shows on their own networks.

One of the contestants on Thursday afternoon, "To Tell the Truth" on CBS just happened to be the director of CBS, "It's the Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown," and not only was the evening special plugged repeatedly but a bit of it was previewed for the home audience. The whole segment, including the plug occupied close to one-third of the half-hour program.

ABC Eyes Replacements

ABC is expected to complete by this weekend plans for mid-season replacements, and for shifting shows to new time spots.

One new series will certainly be a comedy western, "Rango," since the network is planning to send its star, Tom Conway, late of "McHale's Navy" on a multi-city promotion tour next week.

Another probable replacement will be the British-made "Avengers," a bomb as a replacement last season but it won favorable audience attention during the summer.

"Hawk" and "Shane" are "definite casualties and it is expected that "12 O'Clock High" and "The Man Who Never Was" will be out. The "Milton Berle Show" too is a big question mark.

Rat Patrol Has Spanish Touch

Now that Christopher George is temporarily out of exile, the fact that he is in the one new television series that is a major ratings hit is beginning to penetrate.

George, a handsome American of Greek parentage, has been filming his series, ABC-TV's Rat Patrol, in Spain. Word had filtered to Spain that the series was a hit but "we were all in a kind of limbo over there."

"When we started filming," Chris recalled, "we never saw the rushes. When we finally saw one completed show, the print they showed us was a reject print. The music was bad, the color was bad and we just couldn't tell.

"For two days after our first show went on, we hadn't heard any reaction. We were sure we had bombed.

"Then the wires started pouring in, but no one even said 'yippee.' We were all wondering if we were being kidded. But I heard from my manager and agent, and they confirmed the news, and I didn't think they would kid. But we still don't really believe we've got a hit."

Aryan invaders from central Asia conquered India about 3,500 years ago.

Happy Reunion

The first Hallmark Hall of Fame production for the season is Maxwell Anderson's play, "Barefoot in Athens," set for NBC-TV Nov. 11. Peter Ustinov and Anthony Quayle star, with Geraldine Page. When Ustinov and Quayle reported for rehearsal they had a reunion. Exactly 20 years ago they had met for the first time, and they hadn't worked together since. In October 1946, Quayle directed his first major production, "Crime and Punishment," in London and Ustinov had one of his first major roles.
